As part of the comprehensive family literacy model including four comprehensive components: adult education, parent education, parent and child daily interactions, and early childhood education, this activity will fund Motheread/Fatheread. This literacy program incorporates 29 research-supported lessons that empower parents/caregivers to boost their own and their children's literacy skills in listening, speaking, reading, and writing. These proven lessons enhance students' vocabulary, comprehension, and critical thinking by encouraging parents to connect with children using both stories and their own experiences.
